RAY HADLEY JOINS THE NEW MEDIA REVOLUTION

Top rating radio host, Ray Hadley has launched a video sports bulletin to bring Australians up-to-date on all the action including the overnight results from the Winter Olympic Games in Turin, Italy.

“Anyone with a passion for sport knows that if your team or athlete is competing you want to hear the outcome or score immediately. Then you can spend the rest of the day dissecting the results.

“Given my previous TV appearances, if this is still in place by next week it will be a miracle,” said Hadley.

Assistant Programming Director, Trevor Long said, “Macquarie National News video service means we can create personalised news, sport and current affairs. If sport is your passion then you can download Ray from 9am or if you like to have your news updated during the day, then you can log onto www.2GB.com for the latest video news bulletin.

“We do not intend to dictate “where and how” you access the video news service. Ray will be available for the next two weeks (Monday to Friday) through popular pod-cast directories such as Apple iTunes and www.2GB.com

Ray Hadley’s video sports bulletin will be available from 9am each weekday morning.
